

The S3 Cockpit

On Time, Air Tight™

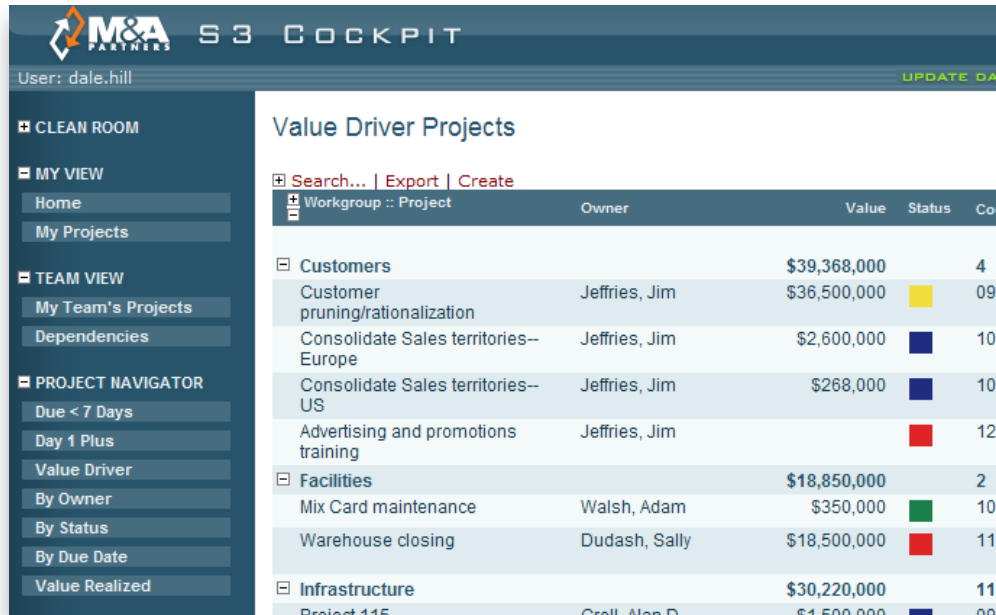

Few corporate mergers or acquisitions achieve the synergies envisioned the day the deal is struck.

Lack of structure and plan visibility, difficulties in cross-team communications, inability to cope with unforeseen events, and lack of integration team coordination all contribute to deal-eroding delays and synergy leakage — an environment that makes success a rare and difficult accomplishment.

In the current world of M&A integration, tasks are tracked in spreadsheets, and team communication and coordination consists of e-mailing these spreadsheets between team members. It's small wonder that as many as 70% of mergers fail to meet their target synergies.

Instead, imagine a world in which the entire integration plan is instantly visible and actionable — and the status of every task is updated in real time. Imagine a tool that makes team collaboration easy, and tracks the achieved value of every planned synergy.

Now stop imagining — because that world is here today. The M&A Partners S3 Cockpit™ is a unique team collaboration and communication environment that puts M&A success within your reach. Developed by a team of world-class M&A experts, the S3 Cockpit brings the process of M&A integration into the twenty-first century and gives you and your team on-demand, secure, and easy access to your integration plan. You always know the status of every task, enabling you and the team to make real-time mid-course corrections. Now you can maintain your time line and stop synergy leakage in its tracks, making the full value of your merger a reality.
